

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

A method of verifying a telematics unit, the method including initiating a cleared number voice call from a telematics unit to a call center based on a failed
5 transmission condition establishing a cleared number voice call communication channel between the telematics unit and the call center; and communicating at least one telematics unit identifier to the call center via the established communication channel.